

VOLLEYBALL IN THE FALL

By Shadequa Longus, Class of 2011

Volleyball is an interesting sport, and this fall was an interesting experience for the newcomers. Coach Walker and Coach Whitaker returned as coaches this year.

The best part of the season was that we stuck together as a family. No matter what happened, we were always there for each other.

Both varsity and junior varsity had some good games and some bad games. The teams had potential and talent, but things did not always come together to produce victory.

Next year's varsity volleyball team should be strong because of the junior varsity players moving up after gaining experience.

The volleyball players will remember the bus rides from this fall. The bus transported us to and from the games—but just as importantly, the time spent on the bus was a time for bonding.

Next fall's bus rides will transport many of the same players. But by then, these players will be older, stronger, and more prepared to deliver victories.
